As you will have seen in the media this week, the Commission's role in regards to the Robodebt Royal Commission report includes overseeing an independent Code of Conduct Taskforce to investigate potential breaches of the APS Code of Conduct by public servants with adverse findings. Former Commissioner Steve Sedgwick has been engaged as an Independent Reviewer to make inquiries and determinations on current and past APS employees, and Steve will be supported by a Taskforce within the APSC. s. 22 has come across from the NDIA to lead this Taskforce and is supported by Nardine McLoughlin from ATO. Both s. 22 and Nardine have extensive experience in the APS. The Taskforce is located in E Block of the Treasury Building, and in the interests of integrity, the taskforce is being kept separate from our daily operations. If you meet the team, please feel free to acknowledge them, noting they are unable to discuss the work they are doing.

Through that we will see a second, targeted tranche of reform projects come through the pipeline, including a focus on building stronger integrity across the APS. Some of this is in response to the Robodebt Royal Commission report, and some has come from the Integrity Taskforce in PM&C that is about to publish its report, with recommendations. There is a lot for us to implement in the integrity space, in addition to a high tempo in our regular integrity work.
